What is LP-problem?

Any Linear Programming problem involves optimizing a linear function subject to several linear constraints, expressed as linear inequalities or equations

Examples

- Maximize profit under upper limits on resources available

- Minimize cost of daily diet under lower limits on nutrient requirements

Geometric illustration of a LP problem

The fundamental theorem of LP

The idea of the simplex method